WHAT IS RAW FOOTAGE?

I prepared this response to help people understand what they're getting into when they request Raw Footage.

Raw Footage is an archive of recorded data. It is not meant for viewing. It is meant for editing.

We film on digital cameras and audio recorders. Raw Footage is the collection of data from each camera, copied to a hard drive. It needs to be accessed by an able-bodied computer. Footage and audio are recorded separately, and each of these devices typically comes home with anywhere between 1 and 2000 individual files from the day's filming. Each of these hundreds of files can only be viewed individually in it's Raw state. Many will be 2-5 seconds long. Some will be many minutes long. Professional editing is needed to join the sound recordings with appropriate footage, and create a final product that you can enjoy. While the cameras do indeed record sound, they almost never pick it up well enough to used in a Professional Edit.

I do offer "Documentary Edits" with most packages. That may be what you're thinking of when you ask for Raw Footage.

If purchased, Raw Footage will be provided on a usb drive. The files themselves are copyrighted by the studio the moment they are created under Federal Copyright and Intellectual Property laws. I maintain legal ownership of the files although you are free to use them for personal viewing use only. This means no other media outlet, production company, professional or amateur videographer or hobbyist can use them for any reason. Furthermore there is no guarantee that you will be able to play my Raw Footage, as your computer and software will limit playback. I am not responsible for corrupted files, nor for their playback on your device. Corrupted files are a reality of video coverage. Part of the editing process is to fix these files, that sometimes don't play properly.

\** If you are interested in hiring me exclusively to film for you and provide raw footage to you for another entity to then edit, that service is available only by direct inquiry and custom quote. That is not what you are buying with the Raw Footage option here. This option is exclusively for your posterity and peace of mind.*

WHAT IS A DOCUMENTARY EDIT?

A Documentary Edit is an edited, final video of the preparations, details, ceremony, photo shoot, speeches, dances and other rituals captured throughout the day. Showing the best angle with a professional mix of the best audio captured chronologically without editing for time or pacing. If there were multiple cameras filming at the same time, the view will be judiciously switched between them to create a more dynamic, interesting video. Video footage is optimized for color correction and exposure. Audio is optimized for best listening.

A Documentary Edit is as long as we were able to capture. If you ordered "2 videographers" or more, and your ceremony was an hour and ten minutes long, the Documentary Edit of your ceremony will be an hour and ten minutes long. A Documentary Edit is meant to be watched. It is a final product meant to be viewed and shared.
