YOUR ENGAGEMENT SESSION

Your engagement session is a relaxed, casual time where we can get to know each other before the wedding. It is usually an short evening hike at a pretty location - it's quite easy and fun to be photographed as a couple, and the slower pace and lack of pressure give you time to relax and help to banish any nervousness you might have about photos on your wedding day.

You can use the photos on your wedding website, make a guest book, display a couple of your favorites at the wedding, share them with your family, whatever you like!

YOUR GALLERY

All my wedding collections include a beautiful and functional private online gallery. It offers digital downloads and print purchasing, allowing your family and friends to view the images and get copies of their favorites all by themselves.

It starts with a folder of some of my favorite images that tell the story of your day. Next you will find separate folders containing the full set of images for each section of the day - the ceremony, family portraits, reception etc.

You can download individual digital images from the gallery, and also the full set. You can even order prints through it if you would like to - these come straight to you from my favorite professional lab.

TESTIMONIAL

"People are just gushing about your photos, Ali! I want to share what my friend from Colorado (who was crushed that she couldn't attend the wedding) said:

"That was THE most incredible photographer you could have ever gotten! When I got to the reception gallery and saw the food and all the laughter I felt like I was right there experiencing it with you and literally started to cry! I don't think I have ever seen a photographer capture the absolute essence of a wedding like she did. I could hear the laughter and smell the food and the grass and flowers and outdoors. Could even smell the goats!"

So much thought and time will go into planning this day. You, your families and your friends will be making plans for months, people will travel to celebrate with you, all your special people will be together. I hope that the photos I take for you will remind you how this day felt, how it looked and who was there, and I hope they will bring joy to anyone who couldn't travel to be with you.

Most of all, though, I hope you'll look back at your wedding photos and see how much you love and are loved - which is, after all, the most beautiful thing about a wedding.
