Wedding Details and Prices

This is how we roll...

Hate reading? Scroll to page two. Everyone else; please continue.

We don't offer the typical "packages" that you'll find with other photographers. Instead, we prefer to charge a reasonable rate for our time spent shooting and editing, and let the client decide what physical products are best for them a la carte. We spend more time doing what we love (shooting and editing pictures, yay!) and less time trying to guess what combination of prints, wraps, and albums we think you'll want (372 wallet-sized prints, right?). We get what we want; you get what you want; everyone's happy. And a happy photographer is a great photographer!

So here's the deal: You get full day coverage of unlimited locations with your favorite photographer (that's me!) and an assistant who also doubles as a second shooter for the ceremony and reception. We'll take a wide variety of detail, preparation, portrait, candid, and group shots to best capture the day - typically several thousand photographs in total. After the wedding, we narrow those thousands of photos down to the best 10%, which are then edited according to my style and taste. The final edited photographs are uploaded to a password-protected gallery where you'll be able to order prints and canvas wraps, or download high resolution copies for backup; the images will remain accessible for 10 years. The entire process, from shooting to uploading, takes about four to six weeks.

In addition to the day-of coverage listed above, we also like to take an hour or so out of our busy schedules every couple months to hang out with the two of you and take some pictures. It lets us all get to know each other and become comfortable working together, and also exposes any potential conflicts in personality that need to be addressed (I have a really, really weird sense of humor, for example). It's like dating, but for photographers. A few days after our "date", you'll get a couple of edited photos to use however you see fit.

The price? $2,500, plus Wayne County sales tax (currently 6.5%).
