

My offerings are donation based.

I simply request a balanced and loving exchange - something that is offered with blessings and a positive feeling.

I ask clients to consider their budget and my time, energy, and service in holding a sacred container of union.