

• crafting uncommon images that celebrate the beauty, mystery, and wonder of our common experiences •

• what to expect •

Hi! I'm Seth! First, let me say that... you're getting married and that. is. awesome. We, too, were engaged until March of last year when Rosa and I tied the knot in the Great Smoky Mountains. Planning a wedding sure is a lot to tackle, but it was a perfect day, hiccups (expect a few) and all. I mean, it's a pretty magnificent thing, right? Embarking on a lifelong journey together... and I consider it a privilege and an honor to capture couples celebrating that.

And, yeah, I'm a documentarian. I love to cover the whole wedding day, tell the story: beginning, middle, and end.

Typically, I yield about 30 images per hour. With a 2nd shooter that increases by about 20 images an hour. I deliver those images, high-resolution, edited, retouched, in a gallery online (all images immediately available for download) within six weeks of the wedding. I do release some highlights for you guys a couple days after the wedding. Additional high-quality prints, lay-flat photo books, and custom framing can be ordered a la carte. Prices vary by size & quality.

At this point, it's important to note that, hey, some couples elope, do a small courthouse wedding, or just keep the festivities short and sweet and don't need all-day coverage. I have a motto: people over paper. Yes, I have overhead to consider and can only accept a certain number of weddings per year, but I never want budget constraints to keep a couple who loves my work from being able to book me. All this is to say that the rates you see below are thumbnail estimates. It's not uncommon to customize a package around your budget and coverage requirements. Take a look! Also, have a look around my website - the link is on the last page.

A romantic couple is shown in profile, kissing. The man is on the left, wearing a dark suit jacket over a white shirt and dark tie. The woman is on the right, wearing a white sleeveless dress and large, ornate earrings. Her hand is gently cupping the man's face. They are standing in a field of tall grass or reeds, with a warm, golden sunset light filtering through the background. The overall mood is intimate and celebratory.
