Let's talk money.

I know it sounds scary...

You're booking all these vendors and seeing these dollar signs and thinking "is this real life!?"

Trust me, I get it! When my wife and I decided to elope AND have a big wedding (goodbye savings) I almost had a heart attack. But you know one thing I don't regret one bit? The money we spent on our photographer.

I want to remind you that your photos are the ONLY thing that last after the wedding. And they get more valuable as the years go on. As time passes, memories fade but photos have a way of bringing you back to that moment - the love, the emotions, the tears.

I've spent tens of thousands of dollars on the best equipment, on educational courses to improve my craft, and software to make this process as smooth as possible so you have one less thing to stress about. All so you can rest assured I've got your back and it's worth it.
