THE QUEEN CITY'S CROWN JEWEL

RICH HISTORY

The historic Lehigh Valley Trust Building was designed and constructed by the Lehigh Valley Trust Company in 1911 to embody an era of hope and financial prosperity. Located in the heart of Allentown at 634 Hamilton Street, the property formally opened its' doors in 1911 and quickly become the architectural standard throughout Eastern Pennsylvania. The Lehigh Valley Trust Company was considered one of the most influential banking houses in the East until a range of acquisitions and mergers lead to the closing of the historical branch in 1988.

In September 2017, a $5.5 million restoration of the property began that would take approximately nine months to complete. Vault 634, harnessing the stunning gilded age architecture of the statement property, formally opened its doors in June 2018 as the region's leading boutique wedding and event venue. Today it hosts a plethora of celebrations, weddings, corporate events, and nonprofits in the great halls that stand as a testament to Allentown's historical magnificence.

NOTHING SUCCEEDS LIKE EXCESS

EXPERIENCE A NEW LEVEL OF CLASS

Regal hand-carved stone lion heads watch over the property's stunning stone Corinthian pillars and beautifully ornate cornice. Lavish bronze doors, capped with a marble commemoration, serve as a portal for each visitor to enjoy the Gilded Age within. The Great Hall boasts fluted pillars, rich gold-leafed molding, and intricate plaster detail, all crowned with a stunning 900-square foot stained glass ceiling. The property is equipped with five antique vaults, each transported from different areas of the country to the venue by a ten-horse team in 1912.

An intimate downstairs speakeasy bar is the perfect setting for your trendy cocktail hour or simply as space to have a conversation and relax.
