Why Me?

I want to work with couples who strive for a marriage as beautiful as their wedding.

Hi, I'm Amy Bone and I'm the owner of Bone Photography. I spend my days telling puns, rocking pink overalls, drinking too much black coffee and personifying my dog, Bear. I run a oversized t-shirt and yoga pant safe-zone home where coffee brews up to noon red wine pours after five. I was born and raised in South Carolina but have been dubbed an honorary midwestern due to my denim and love of corn fields. Owning my own business is my dream job so I consider myself extremely blessed.

You have worked hard to cultivate a beautiful wedding. But you've worked harder to cultivate a beautiful marriage. And because of that, my job is to capture it all. I'm a wedding photographer who believes in true, all day coverage and that my job is to document and support my couple, in any way I can. So whether I'm holding my camera and one hand and lip stick in the other, my job is to help make your day, truly unforgettable and to fill your wedding gallery with beautiful images to cherish for a lifetime.
