

First and foremost, congratulations and thank you for considering J. Sasu Photography as the storyteller for your wedding day!

Picking a wedding photographer is no easy task. The mission of my artistic photography is to capture the finite moments in your day that tell the most compelling story of your love; the moments that evoke emotion, recall joy and relive what it means to truly be in love. The task of doing so is something I take very serious and I will work with you from the very first step to ensure your needs are met.

Attached, you will find information about my services and packages.

I look forward to working with you!
