A wedding card with a white and pink floral arrangement and a gold brooch. The card is white with a pink ribbon and features a gold brooch. The text on the card is in a cursive font and reads: "Today I humbly commit to staying by your side through good times and bad. I am happy to stand by you at night and let you know that I will always have your best interests at heart. I will not take you for granted and I will work to keep your communication on how to nurture it so that we stay as strong as possible." The card is surrounded by white and pink flowers and a gold brooch.
