PHOTOGRAPHY

With 11 years of experience photographing weddings, I know without a doubt that every couple and every wedding is totally unique. I offer a fully customizable approach to wedding photography that can be tailored precisely for you.

Depending on your priorities, you can start with the Essentials and build from there, or you can bundle up with the Full Day and get a little discount baked in. Each day always includes all your edited full-resolution digital files with a personal print release. You'll also get a credit to use towards prints or an album. After our consultation we'll determine exactly how much coverage you'll need for your perfect day.

An elopement can be a journey to the ends of the earth, or it can be just a handful of your near and dear in the backyard.

This package is ideal for tiny weddings or adventurous elopements with an emphasis on just the ceremony and portraiture.

If you're planning a small, intimate ceremony and you want the photography to be focused and minimal, an elopement package might be the perfect fit.

about me + frequently asked questions

Hi! I'm Mollie.

I started out in wedding photography in 2011 and have been shooting weddings and portraits ever since then. Before that I received my BFA in Photography, so it's safe to say I've been dedicated to my craft full time for almost two decades!

When I'm really seeing the world is when I feel most creatively awake. My love affair with light paired with my joy in celebrations made me fall in love with wedding photography right away. I inherited my love of photography from my dad and my grandpa, both excellent photographers. I studied fine art photography at Kansas State and Columbia College Chicago. It's a craft that keeps me endlessly intrigued and forever inspired.

Are you insured?

Yes, I carry current equipment & business liability insurance.

When will my photos be ready and how do I receive them?

30 days after your wedding date! Via email you'll receive an invite to your private online gallery where you can slideshow, download your high res jpegs, share to social media, organize favorites, order prints, and share the gallery link with friends and family.

Can I make prints with you?

Yes, easily. Your gallery is an online print shop where you can order prints, matted prints, and frames and have them directly shipped to you within a week. This is where you can apply your print credit to any prints & products, a la carte or in collections. I offer standard affordable printing with Classic prints, and also higher-end archival printing with Fine Art Prints. Also an assortment of handcrafted hardwood framing and matted print selections.

How can we use/share our photos? Can I print my own photos?

You will have your full-res jpegs and the rights to print, share, and distribute the photos however you choose for your own personal use (this includes family) and there are no restrictions on making your own prints. As the photographer I own the copyright, and I grant a perpetual license to you for your personal use and reproduction. This means that the only restriction under the copyright agreement is commercial use or resale of the images.

We want a wedding album, do you offer them?

Si senora. It's the best way to arrange your images into a story of your day and highlight the very best memories and portraits. My wedding albums are archival and built to last as heirlooms, with several cover options and customized details. Check out all the info and see how to order in my Product Menu. Also, bonus, you can set up a contribution link and add it to your Gift Registry so friends and family can contribute as a wedding present.

Can we go to multiple locations?

Sure! As we talk through your day we'll determine how much time can be allotted for photos, and multiple locations are always an option.

Should I book a 2nd photographer?

There are a few considerations when deciding whether to book a 2nd photographer. Normally I recommend it when there are multiple locations and simultaneous events. For example if the couple is getting ready in separate locations, or if you want to have portraiture done during the cocktail hour. It's also a good idea to book a 2nd if you're having a larger wedding with a guest list over 200 or so. A 2nd will add another layer of candid captures, more documentation of family and guests, and an alternate angle and perspective on important events like the ceremony and reception moments.

Do you travel? How much do you charge to travel?

Yes, absolutely. It's inspiring to shoot in new locations. For anything 100 miles outside of Kansas City I charge travel expenses (airfare or mileage, accomodations, and meals for the wedding day).

What's your payment structure and forms of payment accepted? Is tax included?

I am happy to accept payment via cash, check, bank transfer, credit card, Venmo, or Paypal. A 25% deposit (retainer fee) is due upon booking, another 25% of your total balance is due four months before your date, and the remaining balance is due 2 weeks before your big day.

Do you work off shot lists? Can I send you a Pinterest board?

I love to see your aesthetic, and sometimes that can be best communicated through imagery. So I welcome you to send any inspiration shots. I don't replicate any other photographer's work but I do like to have a guiding sense of your inspirations. During our itinerary call we will go over a general shot list so we're on the same page about what's most important to you.

Will you stay extra time on the wedding day if need be?

Yes, if time runs over and you need to extend coverage on the day-of, I'm happy to stay later for my hourly rate.

Do you take any breaks or dinner on the wedding day?

It's go-time for me all day long, except during a small amount of time at dinner. Vendor tables are fine, I just need to be in earshot. Normally I will sit down for about 15 minutes while you and all your guests are eating, so I'm finished by the time the reception moves on.

How do you edit / retouch the photos?

I use Lightroom and Photoshop to individually edit each photo. I do an overall treatment to bring out the sharpness and colors, then for portraiture I do a natural retouching treatment. The look is timeless and classic, not trendy.

Can we consult with you about wedding day timeline, recommendations, etc?

Yes please! We'll have an itinerary planning call, and I've found it really helps to timeline the day with you. From my experience I have a good idea of how much time is needed for the different photography needs on the wedding day.

How do I book you?

Let me know after we've had our consultation! I'll send your online contract and invoice. Once your contract is signed and the deposit is paid, we are good to go!

What kind of equipment do you use? Do you have backup equipment?

I use Canon professional equipment. Canon R5 mirrorless and backup body, and Canon L series & RF lenses ranging from wide angle to prime to telephoto. I also use off-camera and on-camera flash systems for interior and night-time environments.

How do you back up photos?

I shoot to two card slots, so every photo automatically has a backup. After the wedding I back up cards to a hard drive while syncing to cloud. After editing I upload high res photos to your online gallery, where you can download. I keep backups on my drives in case some day down the line you lose your data.

Do you do formal portraiture as well as candid?

Yes, for most weddings my couples have chosen to have formal family portraiture done. Either in the ceremony space or outdoors, I'm comfortable arranging groups and lighting for formal portraiture.

Can you help with posing or positioning us for photos so we don't feel awkward?

Definitely. My goal is to for you to feel comfortable in front of the camera so your true personalities and togetherness can shine! There are lots of things I do to put you at ease. And I provide positioning assistance and guidance, without getting too 'posey.'

How many images are included?

It's flexible because every wedding is different, but a general approximation is about 80/hour. A 2nd photographer will add to that amount. I don't have a cap on the amount of photos, but I also don't want to inundate you with twenty photos of the same pose. So I select based on the quality of each shot, aiming for a good variety and storytelling flow, with ample portrait options that will give you good personal choices.
