

Here at Dragon and the Butterfly, it's not just photography. Its family, and we've got you.

Here at Dragon and the Butterfly Studios, you'll find that our passion is capturing those moments that cannot be duplicated--those moments that help tell your story and capture the real you, for generations to come. We strive through the day to make sure every moment is captured, without stress or worry. Our couples, their happiness, and comfort are our number one priority when it comes to their big day. Our couples aren't just another set of faces to us; they're family and we treat their day as such.

Each and every one of us is different and unique, so why would your wedding photography be any different? All of our packages can be customized to your unique needs (we even have a 'build-your-own' option), so that you can have your wedding, your way.
