PLAN IN ADVANCE, RELAX DAY OF

When you plan all of the details in advance and make sure it is communicated before your wedding day, it makes all the difference! No one wants a million people asking them questions on their big day. It only adds stress! Ask your vendors for any planning tips to make sure you aren't missing anything. Your vendors have likely done this hundreds of times and can think of things you won't.

THINGS WILL GO WRONG

Wedding days have so many moving parts and people involved. Every day of our lives people make mistakes, the environment sends surprises, and circumstances don't always align in our favor. On such an important day, that can feel overwhelming and a little scary. But I promise if you mentally prepare yourself for things to possibly go wrong and trust your loved ones + your vendors to make the most of it... it won't even matter! Chances are your guests won't even notice whatever it is. What effects your wedding day the most is your attitude.

IT'S NOT ALL ABOUT THE PICTURES

Ok ok... don't hate me for this one. I know its controversial. On one hand, the pictures will be what you look at to remember your special day. So don't get me wrong, they do matter. BUT don't let the pictures stop you from actually taking it all in and enjoying the special moments. You don't want to look back on your wedding day and remember spending hours taking pictures. Let the pictures capture your day as it happens and reminisce on some of the most special, authentic moments with the people you love most.

FIRST LOOK OR NO FIRST LOOK?

In my opinion, there is no one size fits all answer. Everyone cares about different things on their wedding day. Personally, I prioritized an authentic ceremony and a fun reception for mine! Think about what's important to you.

Here are some questions to help you decide:

Are pictures really important to me? (If yes, consider a first look)

Will I have at least 20 min. before sunset after my ceremony? (If no, consider a first look)

Are you an introvert or do you prefer to do private vows? (If yes, consider a first look)

Do you have a lot of reception time? (If no, consider a first look)
