A little about me

I have been photographing weddings specifically since 2005, & shot over 400 weddings.

I am a wife and a mom of three daughters (22, 20, & 16 - pray for me).

I also get very nervous talking to people, I tend to talk very fast and share too much!

I am honest to a fault, and have a huge belief in Karma!

Fun Facts about me; I actually went to school for Zoology, and have an AS degree. We have 10 animals, all of them in our house. As a child I would babysit to earn money to support my film habits. When I became a mom, my children always had a camera in their faces. We would be invited to birthday parties; I would bring my camera take pictures of the other children, & give them to the parents. After a few years, my girls were not getting invited, but I was just to take pictures! I finally went back to school for photography when my youngest was in preschool. It took a long time to figure out what I wanted to be when I grew up.

And I have not regretted it since.

Wedding photography is not for the faint of heart! We have to anticipate not only when something will happen, but the emotion attached to it so we can capture it on camera. We do not get perfect lighting, perfect model bodies, or even the most aesthetically pleasing places to photograph in. But after years of photographing weddings, I can create the perfect light, pose people so they look their best, and shoot in a way you see nothing but a beautiful background. When it comes to meeting a new couple, I believe there needs to be a connection between the couple and myself for everyone to feel great and for the wedding day photography to flow smoothly. It's all about the Chemistry!
