A LITTLE ABOUT ME

Hi! I'm Catherine but most people just call me Cat. I was given a camera for my birthday about 12 years ago and I found so much joy documenting the life and people around me. I did not expect to embark on a new career but the universe had a different idea. After stepping in as a last minute Wedding Photographer I found a love and creative fulfillment in telling their wedding story. I then signed up for as many education opportunities as were available to me and dug in to learn as much as I could about documenting those big days in a way that shows all the laughter and love around you. And now I have assembled a small but amazing team of photographers ready to make looking back on your perfect day a storytelling experience to share for years to come.
