Design and Customization FAQ

Do you do custom design work?

All of our wedding invitation designs custom to the bride and groom. You are more than welcome to order a design seen in our etsy shop or in person; however changes can be made to each piece. Additionally, if you'd like a completely custom design, that is our specialty.

Can I change the color of the design?

You can use as many ink colors as you'd like on your stationery, there is no additional charge.

More often than not, any color paper can be used on the wording layer of your stationary. However, on occasion, the paper background must stay white to represent the white shimmer cardstock, but text and graphics can be customized to any of our ink options.

Can I change the font?

Yes, you can choose from any of the fonts that we offer. If you have a particular font in mind that is purchasable via the web, we can add that total into your total cost.

Can I order in a Foreign Language?

We can design in most languages, but proofing is 100% your responsibility as if we are not fluent in the language your prefer, we are unable to notice typos or misspellings.

Additional fees may apply depending on the extent of the language used and the type of alphabet (roman versus non-roman), so please contact us for more information.

Can you print in a custom color?

If none of our ink options fit your palette, we can create a custom ink color for a flat fee of $30. We would simply need the RGB code that corresponds with your color choice. When you place your order, just let us know that you would like to do a custom color in the personalization. To ensure the best color match, we recommend sending your color preference and approving your proofs no later than 3 days of receiving the swatches. Press colors can shift over long periods of time, so it's best to print the order as soon as you make your decision.

I need two response dates. Can you do this?

If you have an A and B guest list and need a separate response date for each, we can split your response card order for a $25 fee. This fee covers the additional design work and press setup for preparing and printing the second version of the response card.

Can I purchase printable files?

Absolutely! Printable files are available. The cost for these files are based on how many pieces are included in the design as well as how much detail goes into each of these pieces.

Can you make additional accessories to match my design?

If there is something that you need that you don't listed on page 1, please let us know and we will custom design it for you!

How does the proof process work?

Our proofing process includes 2 complimentary rounds of proofs for wording and layout changes for the design chosen at the time of ordering. Due to the amount of time and work involved, additional design proofs will cost $15 per proof.

Review of wording proofs for accuracy is the sole responsibility of the client. Once a proof is approved for print, should changes need to be made, you will be subject the cost of the new material, as well as the labor. (This includes wording that may have been relayed to MBM correctly but incorrect in the invitation proof, as the invitation design program does auto correct grammar and spelling.) We do try to limit inaccuracies prior to sending proofs, but because we are not familiar with your personal information, errors do occur on occasion.
