Hello, I'm Kristin

I live in Indianapolis with my beautiful, goofy and amazing family. My husband, Dean, and I have two children, Owen and Gracie, that we can never seem to hug enough. We are loving life and taking lots of pictures along the way! I graduated from Purdue University in Applied Math, however I found my passion behind the lens of a camera and now I get to do what I love every day.

And what is it that I do? I capture love stories. Whether I am there with you sharing the excitement of your engagement or clicking away as you walk down the aisle, I am capturing every moment of your story so that you will remember it forever. I want to make every one of these memories last and to do that I want to get to know you; find out what type of photos you like, get to know your personalities and let you get to know me. You see, my passion isn't just taking the pictures, it is the entire process of documenting your love story.

If you ever have any questions, contact me anytime. Also feel free to get to know me better on twitter, facebook, pinterest or through my blog.

...and where you may have seen me.

Your Engagement...

Where We Begin

We will begin with an initial consultation where we get to know each other. I want to know your style, what you are looking for and you can get to know me. I want to add individual touches that have meaning to you, so the better we know one another, the better I will be able to capture exactly what you are expecting.

Engagement Session

Your engagement session will be scheduled at a location of your choosing and usually last about two hours. These photos are all about announcing your commitment as a couple and showing your love for one another and should portray your personalities. A sneak peak of some of the photos will be posted on my blog for you to share within one week of your session. An online gallery of your photos will be available for viewing approximately two weeks after your session. There is even an option for an engagement session viewing party for you and your fiance to view the photos before they are released. Digital files are ready within one month of your session.

Styling Tips

The most important thing is to be comfortable but cute, these photos are all about what what represents you as a couple. You will be photographed in two separate outfits which should coordinate with each other, but should not be identical. Consider themes such as bright colors or other color schemes or using accessories such as cute shoes or jewelry to coordinate outfits. Consider the location when deciding what to wear, is it outdoors or indoors, is it fancy or more relaxed, etc. I will be happy to help with styling tips if needed.

Location

Location matters, choose a location that represents you. Is there a special place that has meaning to you as a couple? Are there any items that you could bring to help make it more personal? Outdoor locations are best because of the lighting, however seasons and weather should be taken into consideration. I am glad to share suggestions to find the best location for you.

Your Wedding...

What to Expect

We will have a separate pre-wedding consultation which will allow us to go over and confirm all of the details of your big day which include timing, desired shots, expectations and more. On your wedding day, myself and another photographer from my team will be available for eight or ten hours depending on the package you choose. Candid photos will be taken while preparing for your day as well as during the ceremony and reception, and posed bridal party photos will be taken during a scheduled time. For a unique and special experience, we will also prepare a photo slideshow to be shown during your reception which will include images of your wedding ceremony!

A sneak peak of some of the photos will be posted on my blog for you to share within one week of your session. Digital photos will be available approximately four weeks after your wedding day, including an online gallery for you to share. There is even an option for a wedding picture viewing party for you and your fiancé to view the photos before they are released. Albums will be ready within two months of your big day.
