What is covered in those 8 hours?

Getting Ready

Let's start the big day by documenting the story of how you lived the moments leading up to what you have planned for so long. It is usually a very emotional, intimate, and family moment that should not be overlooked. (Click the Image to see a full wedding.)

First Look

This moment is when the couple meets for the first time on the wedding day. It is a moment of great emotion since it is when by being together you get rid of any stress that may exist and come face to face to hug each other and live together what is coming. This moment is planned by the photographer to capture the best angles and the best reactions. (Click the Image to see a full wedding.)

Ceremony

The most symbolic moment of the day is when you will finally be married to your partner and we will be there to create your family visual legacy that will last for many generations in your new family. The best advice we can give you is that you should enjoy it and live to the fullest. (Click the Image to see a full wedding.)

Wedding Day Photo Sessions

Yes, there must be a specific time of day to carry out these photo sessions where three things are covered, couple, family, and bridal party photos. Surely these will be the most requested by family and friends, so leave these sessions in the hands of the photographer who will make it fun and creative.

Wedding Reception

Undoubtedly the most fun part of the day and must be captured with the magic that already exists between the couple and guests. Entrance, dances, speeches, and party with all the details that make your wedding reception unique. Let us make it unforgettable. (Click the Image to see a full wedding.)

Engagement Photoshoot Included for FREE.

An incredible photo session to capture the beauty of your relationship is included free of charge in photography packs. This photo session is taken months or weeks before the event to tell your guests to save the date! (Click the Image to see an. engagement photoshoot.)

15-20 minute edited video

This video tells the story of your wedding day in a cinematographic way with the best moments and beautiful music that will take you to relive those great moments.
