

Wedding Photography Pricing Guide

Your wedding day is the prologue to the incredible story of your marriage. It would be an honor to document part of the story that you'll share with your children (or even grandchildren). Although the memories of your wedding day may fade as you grow old together, you'll always have the photos as a perfectly preserved reminder of where your story started.

An 8-hour wedding day will typically yield 500 to 800 final images. The photos will be edited and delivered via Dropbox within two weeks of the wedding. Additionally, the photos will be added to a gallery website where your friends and family can order prints. Albums are designed by me and then added to Dropbox for revision. If no revisions are requested, the layout will promptly be sent to the lab. Production of albums can take a month or more, whereas canvases and other prints will be delivered within one to two weeks.

No one's needs are the same and no two weddings are alike. That's why all of my packages are completely customizable. The packages listed work as pre-made bundles that can be altered to meet your specific needs. All packages start with 8 hours of coverage with the option to add or subtract hours, services, or keep sakes like prints and albums. While the Premium package is my most popular, a close second is using the Classic as a starting point to create your own.
