Introduction

My Passion for this work.

You're engaged! WOAHH. I'm genuinely happy and excited for you! I'm confident that journey so far has been impressive and now this whole wedding planning process is going to be a wild ride. And, at the end of it, you get to marry the person you love the most in the entire world! Can you think of anything else that could be worth all of the work you're doing to plan this wedding? I can't - because few things in life are as important as marriage. And I promise, your marriage IS worth it.

And there in lies the reason why I work so hard for my clients. Marriage. Family. Legacy. As your photographer, I want to focus on your relationship, your families, your dreams, your day, history, your personalities and your quirks. I want to see the real you. I want to chase after authentic moments and turn them into deep real pictures which are CREATIVE, STYLISH AND ARTISTIC. I want your photographs to be just as relevant in 50 years when Instagram is just a story we tell our grandkids about.

Your love isn't going to go out of style and I don't want your wedding photos to either. I put your vision with my creativity to craft the colors and joy of your wedding to be cherished by generations to come.

So that's me and that's my aim for your wedding. Emotional, authentic, timeless, beautiful. If I sound like the type of artist that you want in your corner over the coming months, I'm SO excited to dig into this process with you. Let's get to it!

With a short time between hiring sid for wedding pictures to the wedding date, we were amazed with how much time and effort Sid and his group put in to capture the precious moments! Sid was very flexible and easy to work with! I always felt comfortable giving him my opinion and he respected and worked with me on it. Not only is he passionate about his work but he is also a good person to work with. The wedding pictures came out great! I highly recommend working with Sid. We look forward to working with him again. :)

There are not enough words to describe how phenomenal Sid is! He is an amazing photographer and artist and we were blown away by his natural talent for capturing beauty. He really has a great eye for what looks beautiful no matter where or when. Sid was always punctual and professional, but more importantly, his style to take the day one step further, is amazing! We're so glad we chose him as our wedding photographer!

Sid takes beautiful pictures and is so easy to work with. You feel at ease with him and the results are great. He did engagements, bridals, and my wedding.

05 Testimonials

How long does it take to get our images?

For portrait sessions, your gallery will be delivered within two weeks. For weddings, you'll get a comprehensive sneak peek within a week or two and your full, yummy gallery will be delivered within 6-8 weeks.

How much do you retouch our images?

ALL images are professionally retouched in our own studio, to look their absolute best as far as exposure, color correction, cropping, etc. If there is a noticeable blemish or stain, we work with you to do our best to remove them when appropriate. More extensive retouching can be requested at an additional cost and will be discussed on a per image basis.

How much of a deposit do you require?

1/3 of the package price is required as a non-refundable retainer to reserve and guarantee your date and pricing. The remainder is due three weeks before the wedding date.

Do you provide RAW images?

Nope. There are many reasons why an image we take doesn't get delivered. Sometimes someone is blinking or making a weird mid-expression-change face. Some photos are identical and some aren't in focus. But we promise to cull through and find the best of the best images to edit and deliver. We want you to have as many memories captured as possible!

Do you travel?

HECK yes. Want to go somewhere cool or personal for your Engagement Session? We're there. Are you getting married outside of Texas or even the US? We're ALL in! But you'll need to cover our travel fees.

Do contact us to know more about our destination wedding travel fees.

Should we do a First Look?

This is the question of our generation! We LOVE First Looks. You get to spend more time with your honey on your wedding day (so fun!) and you get a chance to get out all the anxious jitters together. And you know "the look" you've been thinking about seeing since the day you bought your wedding dress? You get to see it up close and personal and you have the ability to hug and hold each other, to cry or laugh together – only you two. Plus, you can get a lot more photos out of the way before the ceremony, which means getting to that dang party faster! But if that isn't your jam, I totally respect that and want to make your wedding day all that you've always wanted it to be!

Do you refund deposits in the event of a cancellation?

The initial retainer is non-refundable since we will turn down all inquiries for your date after you book. However, the remainder is fully refundable if the event is canceled after the final payment is made.

I have more questions?

Please reach out to us at photography@sidpix.com to get answers to any questions you have.

Getting started

So you've read my brochure, did a deep dive on my website and low-key stalked my Instagram (it's okay, that's what it is there for). You and your fiancé have talked things over and you agree that I might be a good fit for you. What comes next?

Meet

Let's grab a coffee or a margarita or some juice – whatever your taste is, I'm in! Or, if you aren't local to the Dallas/Fort Worth area – let's FaceTime! I'll probably still be drinking coffee anyway. I want to hear about your interests, your job, your love story and your wedding day dreams. We'll talk through how I can benefit you and your wedding and you'll get a chance to ask all the questions that you found online.

Discuss

Talk things over and get on the same page about what you're thinking. If you decide that I'm the girl you want as your photographer, let me know and I'll probably do a little happy dance as I read your email.

Details

I'll get all the necessary information from you to create your formal contract and online invoice and then send those things your way. If you have any follow up questions, let me know! I want you to feel comfortable and well informed.

Paperwork

Sign and return the contract. Pay the retainer fee. Bing, bang, boom – you're officially booked!
