I'm so happy you love the dresses enough to ask for pricing information!

I'm proud to be the only beach wedding dress designer that not only designs island-inspired styles but personally hand paints the delicious silks that they are made with - and all custom-imagined for you!

When you work with Jasmine Sky Designs, you are working directly with myself, Jasmine Sky, the designer and silk artist, and never with a sales person.

I can only accept 20 brides per year. This ensures that you get my undivided attention — not just in the design process but also when I'm in “creation mode” making your dress!

I will be giving you the absolute best of myself to create a garment of the highest quality — one that literally feels like “magic” to wear because it is made for one person and one person only: you.

While a hand painted silk wedding sarong-ensemble can start around $1000... a formal hand painted silk bridal dress with veil and train can peak towards $6000. That said, the average investment is somewhere in the middle at $2,500 - $3,500 which includes designing your outfit, your finished garment(s) and any styling support you might need once you receive your Jasmine Sky Designs Original.

This initial form is meant to help us see if I have what you're looking for in a wedding dress designer. (Fingers crossed!)

Contact me below to see if I'm available for your wedding date!

I'd love to work with you.
