Allow me to introduce myself...

I'm thrilled over the possibility of becoming your wedding photographer! People like you are the reason I wake up every morning knowing I have the best job in the world--documenting love. On most days, when I'm not hanging out with one of my couples behind the camera, you can find me rock climbing with my husband, backpacking, or at the dog park with my Great Dane puppy and Boxer Lab mix.

"People like you are the reason I wake up every morning knowing I have the best job in the world--documenting love."

I became a wedding photographer by mistake, but since photographing my first wedding in 2014, I have never looked back and found a love and passion in what I do. I strive to take that passion and create an incredible wedding photography experience for you--from the moment I first meet you, to the moment I hand you your final images. Please take a moment to view my collections below, and when you're done, let's set up a time to meet! I simply cannot wait!

“Why Morgan?”

You might be asking...

I know choosing a wedding photographer is such a personal--and incredibly important--decision, and it's my priority to ensure my couples are confident in choosing me.

When you have me as your photographer, you not only have someone there to take your photos. You have someone who cares about making you comfortable, relaxed, and most of all happy and confident on the most important day of your life!

I pay attention to all the details you need and will communicate with you throughout the planning process so that when I show up on your big day, you can relax knowing I've got you taken care of.

My goal is not to make you feel like you're just hiring a wedding photographer. I hope you can leave your experience with me knowing you've just made a new friend.

Investment

Every wedding is unique, like you.

While I do have collections already built up, it's my job as your photographer to understand that not every wedding is the same.

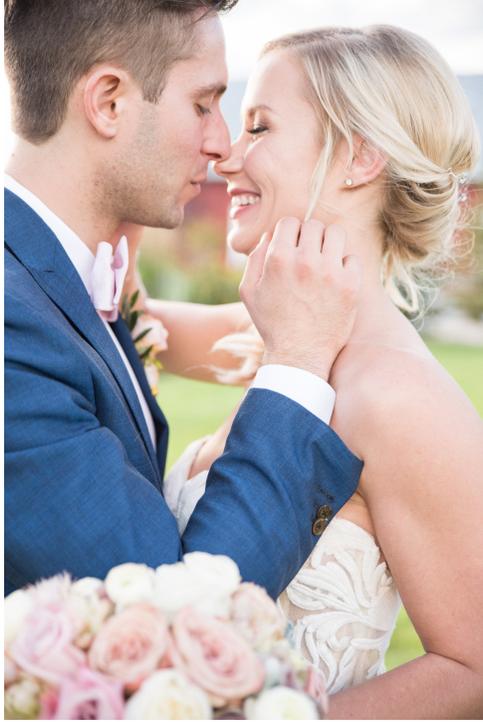

Your photography experience should be custom to fit your needs and desires. Couple that with a photographer who knows what that might look like, we can make a great team!

Having said that, your photographer is an important investment in your big day!

A great photographer will know which moments to anticipate before they even happen. A great photographer will do their best to prepare you before your wedding day so that you never experience unmet expectations.

Allow me to show you what an amazing wedding photography experience looks like!

Elopements and Weekday Affairs

If you're all about prancing around mountain tops with your newly-wedded beau while soaking in an intimate setting with no distractions but the wind from the mountain and the smell of the pine trees, then I am just the girl for you!

Elopements are near and dear to my heart because my husband and I did the same thing over 3 years ago.

On my days off, I explore some of the most private settings that may be great for your elopement. I'll help you plan along the way so you end up having the most perfect, intimate day!

Let's get started, shall we?

Investment: $500.00/hr

Includes:

planning consultation

a day before to explore and find a spot

all finished images to keep, print and share

How To Book

I look forward to the opportunity of showing you what an amazing wedding photography experience looks like!

Ready to take the next steps? Let's meet in person, over the phone, or have a Facetime meeting-- whichever works best for you!

I require a signed contract and 25% retainer once you make the decision to have me as your wedding photographer!
