

What to Expect

Signature High Resolution CD

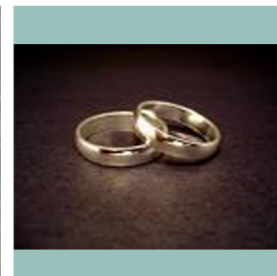

All photos are yours to keep on a full high resolution CD. While Lisa Rowland Photography retains the copyright to all images, you will receive a print release and suggestions on where to print your photos. You may print your photos in any size or number that you choose, though it is always recommended that for best quality and color control, that you use your photographer's company for the best prints and canvases.

The Album Design Process

You have the option to select your album images based on the story of your day. It takes approximately five to seven weeks to design your album. We do not use templates or pre-designed layouts or rely on outside designers who are unfamiliar with your event. We want your wedding album to showcase your individuality and to make all your friends envious with delight. In addition we include light retouching on portrait images. You have the complete and final approval of your album before it is printed and bound. Our hand-crafted albums take about ninety days production time.

Welcome
