MY APPROACH

My goal is to capture real emotion and true connection. Overly posed photos and forced smiles aren't my thing. I'm more about guidance and direction—telling your story in a way that feels effortless and natural to you.. My approach is creative and intentional, yet feels candid and casual. I want to give you the best of both worlds. So when it comes to your wedding day, I'll be a fly on the wall documenting your candid moments and hands on getting all the creative shots too.

Give me all the couples who stray from the traditional, care about the artistic details, and like to get a little cray. You are my people and I want to capture your unique, intimate, crazy love for each other. When it comes to your wedding day, I will be by your side every step of the way, encouraging, supporting, and ensuring that your wedding day is as amazing as you've planned and imagined it to be.

WEDDING DAY TIPS

◆ GETTING READY

During this time, I will capture all the important moments and details happening as you're getting ready. With 10-15 people in a small room, it can become crowded and cluttered during this time. Keep in mind having a clean room will make for the best images (bags, clothes, water/coke bottles, cookies, and chips can all be very distracting when they're in the background). Hair and makeup artists tend to run behind, so it's always best to plan to be finished 30 minutes earlier than you actually need to.

◆ FIRST LOOK

First looks are a great option for those couples looking to have a private moment together for a few moments before your ceremony to snuggle out any tension or stress you might have before the ceremony - and it frees up time for your schedule. No more having to worry about if it's going to be dark for your portraits after your ceremony, or feelings of being rushed! Post ceremony can be a very stressful and shortened amount of time to fit everything in. Planning for a first look allows us more time for couples portraits in a less stressful environment.

◆ DETAILS

I'm a sucker for all the creative details! They tell part of your wedding day story and are so fun to photograph. I will always photograph these things first, while you're still getting ready. This includes your wedding rings, jewelry, invitation suites, shoes, and bouquet. I recommend investing in a nice ring box and invitation suite! Please place your detail items in a shoe box or bag for us to take and photograph upon our arrival.

◆ CEREMONY

You'll want to be sure that your ceremony is planned at a time that will leave us with at least one hour of sunlight after the ceremony, and at least 1.5 hours of sunlight if you are not doing a first look. It's best to have an unplugged ceremony... all those cell phones sticking out are never pretty to look at in your ceremony photos!

◆ RECEPTION

Let loose and have a blast! This is the time to enjoy yourself and that's all I need from you during the reception. I will document everything that's going on between you and all of your guests during this time without disturbing anyone.

◆ SPARKLER SEND OFF

Take your time walking and posing half way through, and get the long sparklers so we can plan something fun for a second run through!
